Never click OK to any dialog boxes. Click Cancel, instead. 6. Set up the upper-left border to create a frame around your image by using the Line dialog box as shown in Figure 2-5. FIGURE 2-5: The Line tool offers four preset line styles. Lines can be of different widths and color. For the line you're creating, choose a color that complements the paper in your image. If you're using a black-and-white negative, use black. If you're working in color, pick a color that highlights the fibers in your paper or matches the color of your subject. (You can check out the Line Tools options in Figure 2-5.) 7. Select the Line tool and begin drawing a line as shown in Figure 2-6. Follow these instructions: • To draw a line, start with the cursor near the canvas's edge and click to begin the line. If you're not sure where to place your initial mouse click, just drag until the line is straight and starts dragging toward the center. • Keep your line straight and vertical by holding the Shift key. • To adjust the width of the line (the thickness of the stroke), click and drag with the mouse. • To change the color, click with the Line tool's new tool or choose a color from the top of the Tools panel. For a pretty effect, give a linear stroke a slight curve by using the Direct Selection tool with the Arrow key. 8. Press the Enter key to end the line. To erase the line, click the Eraser tool and then click along the line. Click as many times as you need to erase the line. The line is gone. 9. Continue adding lines as shown in Figure 2-7 to frame the sides of your image. Choose the Line tool and draw a line in the same way as described in Step 7. For your next line, select the Rectangle tool and draw a frame around the middle of your image. FIGURE 2-6: Start by creating a frame to enclose the sides and bottom of your image. FIGURE 2-7: Keep adding lines to frame your image. 10. If needed, adjust the position of your lines by using the Layer tool and re-sealing the layers.
